CULTURAL DAY
2011

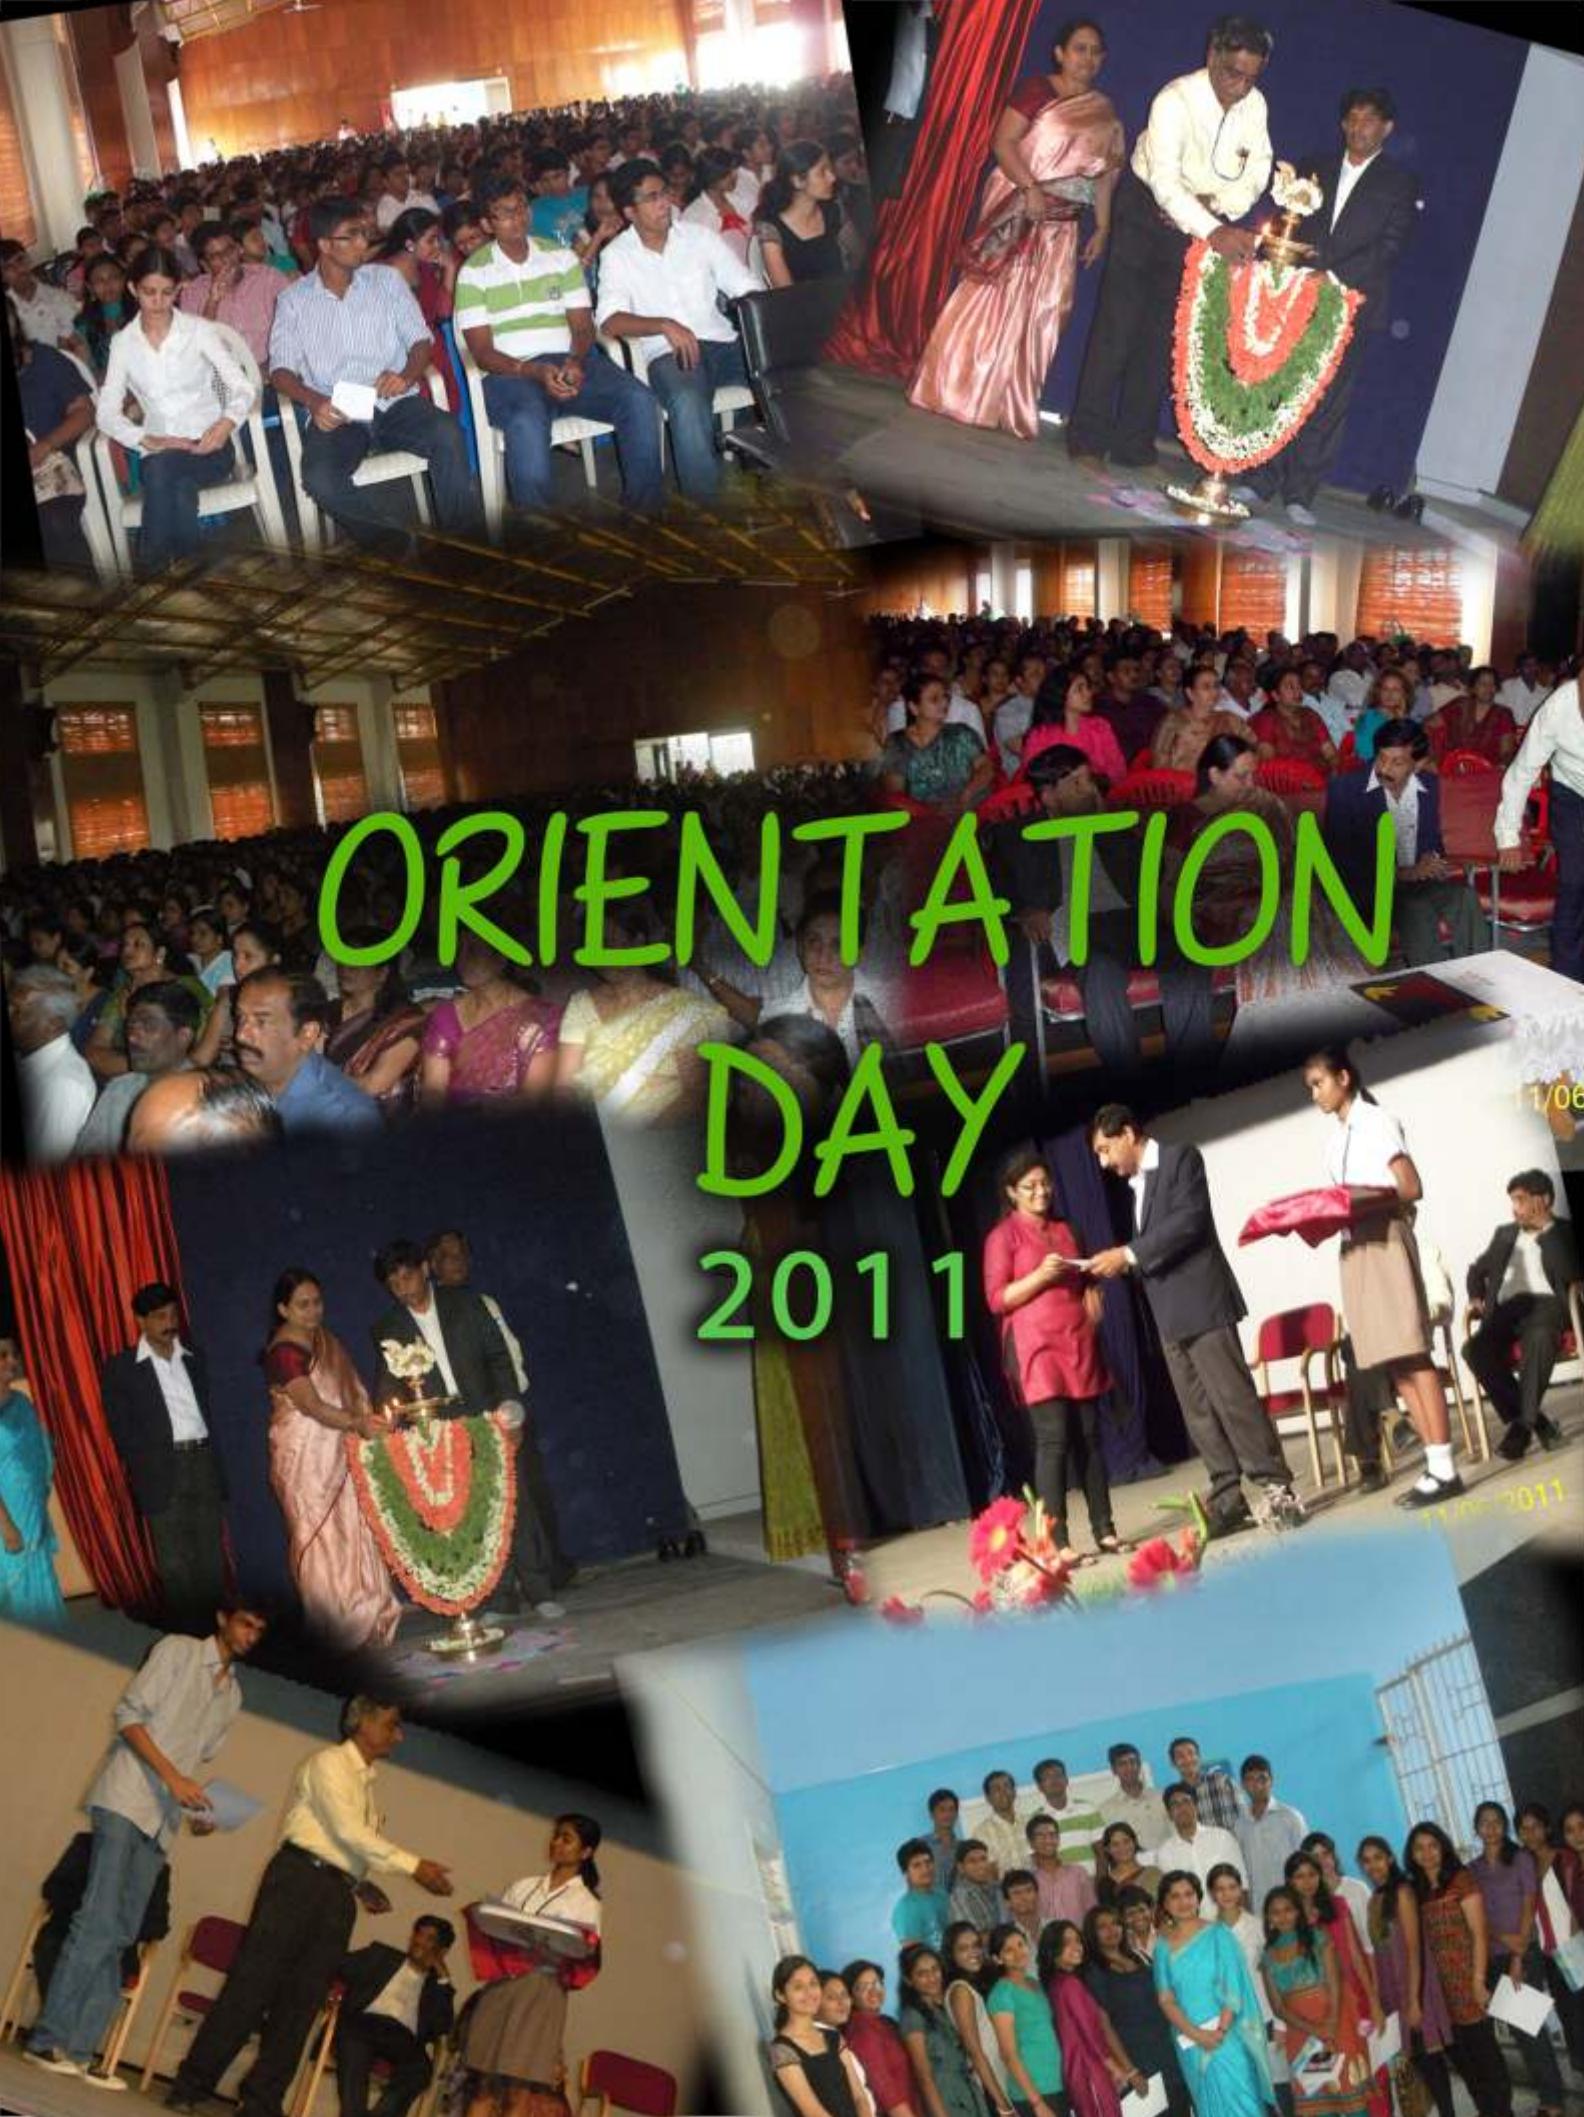

CULTURAL DAY

Excitement, enthusiasm, spirit, pride, talent and a lot more was created at the very mention of THE CULTURAL DAY! This was the time to prove our mettle and bring in fierce competition, among the houses. Every house believed they could win it all, leaving the others in the dust.

After a week of preparation, dawned judgment day! Every teacher and every student was a part of the event. Cultural day allowed students to showcase their talents in almost every field. Besides the regular on stage events like singing, dancing, ramp walking, music, events like tattooing, collage, rangoli took the limelight off the stage. A very invigorating treasure hunt kept students on their feet, guessing and running helter skelter which culminated in our very own principal's office. Guest appearance put up by 'THE BLACK ICE' with their mind boggling dance moves was the icing on the cake. The memories of this momentous day are etched in everybody's mind. The shutterbugs have captured the events to refresh fading memories.

GRADUATION DAY 2011

GRADUATION DAY REPORT - 2010-II

The graduating ceremony for the year 2010-11 was held on Sunday, the 20th of February 2011. Commencing with the invocation song, the function was adorned with the graduating students, the proud parents and other well-wishers. The graduating students were seated with great expectations for the future as was reflecting on their faces. Mr. Suhas Gopinath, the world's youngest CEO graced the occasion as the chief guest of the ceremony and gave a speech, which inspired the outgoing students. Special prizes were given away to students for their outstanding achievements. It was a spectacular scene to see the graduating students sashaying in their colorful saris and smart suits. Aspirations of the graduating students were read out in the midst of great applause. The ceremony ended with the vote of thanks, the national anthem and a sumptuous dinner!!

ORIENTATION FOR THE ACADEMIC YEAR 2011-2012

A formal Orientation Day was conducted in the CMR auditorium on the 7th of June. The hall was filled with the buzz of excitement and gusto. The students who had succeeded in cracking their 10th std board exam and managed to get a seat after the brain storming, choosing and the mad scramble for admissions, were finally seated with their parents looking forward to a new beginning in their lives. Filled with determination and an irrepressible urge to fulfill their dreams, make new friends, forge new relationships and generally enjoy college life.....

The Orientation Day was organized in impeccable style with the Chairman Sri K C Ramamurthy and President Dr Sabitha Ramamurthy as Chief Guest and Guest of honour respectively. The Principal addressed the gathering and very warmly welcomed the freshers into the CMR family as is her usual style of making the students feel a sense of belonging to the institution. There was a lamp lighting ceremony to inaugurate the new academic year. The computer department with able assistance from the II PU students showcased an enlightening slide show clearly depicting the accolades won by the students in academic, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities in the college as well as inter-college fests. It also highlighted the lighter moments by the students and teachers having a lot of fun together during the annual college trip and an enjoyable ethnic day. The toppers of the previous batch were felicitated by the college with immense pride and honour. Their valuable words of inspiration and encouragement touched each and every student present.

The freshers were given an overview of what to expect in the college, as the intention of the program was to facilitate the transition and integration of students into the college environment and to get each new student prepared for their exciting future endeavors. Thus started their journey on a new path of discovery!

Waking up at an ungodly hour of the morning , trying to make your way to college in the freezing cold...doesn't sound much fun , does it? Well, it wasn't, but looking back on what happened after , I'm sure we'd be willing to go through all of it ten times over.

Our picnic didn't start off in the highest of spirits. But , it did eventually pick up . From shaking a leg with the teachers to playing pranks , we did it all. Although , some of the dancing wasn't too easy on the eyes. Needless to say Michael Jackson was probably tossing and turning in his grave. But , it was all in good spirits.

The bird sanctuary in Mysore was an absolutely beautiful place . It was a place where you would be willing to just close your eyes and feel the sunshine streaming through the trees and onto your face in peace and quiet. Of course , with us there , there wasn't any chance of peace and quiet, was there? We were all very excited and had hopes of finding rare and exotic species of birds , and after about half an hour of searching we finally saw the mighty "Corvus brachyrhynchos" also known as the common crow! It was also good to know that some of the students retained the ability of our ancestral primates to climb!

Back in the bus , everyone seemed to be supercharged. Some of the teachers showed off their moves and took to the floor with the students.

The dance steps were quite simply epic.

That night we stayed at the 'lovely' Sterling Resort where a few kind people thought that two tiny beds and a single bedroom was all that was required for six teenage boys! They probably regret that decision now! But its not like we were complaining , this just gave us an excuse to stay up the entire night!
